Difference Between a Real Estate Broker and an Agent
A broker associate is a real estate broker who works for another real estate broker or for a brokerage firm.

Although the broker could work for himself, many choose to join a larger real estate network. Some pay a flat fee to the employing broker and some earn a percentage of each transaction.

Duties and Responsibilities of Real Estate Broker

A real estate broker works to negotiate and arrange real estate transactions. This licensed individual has daily duties that include writing contracts and overseeing transactions for sales and purchasing activities on homes, land and commercial properties.

Real Estate Broker vs Agent: The Differences Explained

A managing broker is a real estate broker who manages a group of real estate agents or real estate associate brokers. Some designated brokers also work as the managing brokers at their agency, while some hire other brokers to be the managing broker and take a more hands-off approach to running the agency.

Real estate broker - Wikipedia

A real estate broker or a real estate agent is a person who represents sellers or buyers of real estate/real property.

While a broker may work independently, an agent must work under a licensed broker to represent clients. Brokers and agents are licensed by the state to negotiate sales agreements and manage the documentation required for closing real estate transactions. In North America, some brokers and agents are members of the National Association of Realtors, the largest trade association I
